

Lesson Plan for Small-Group Text Talks

My Name is María Isabel

by Alma Flor Ada

Reading Level: Grades 3–4

Overview

This lesson plan is designed to help teachers organize independent reading groups and student-led text-based discussions. It focuses on building vocabulary and comprehension skills of students in grades 3–4.

Materials

In addition to this lesson plan and a copy of the reading text for each student, teachers will need the following materials:

- Text Talks teacher flip book
- Text Talks Student Workbook for each student
- Bookmark for each student
- Checklist: Successful Collaborative Discussion rubric for each student

Download these materials at www.elitetexas.org/resources-el/text-talks-a-strategic-book-club-routine

How to Use the Materials

The lesson plan aligns with the before-, during-, and after-reading steps of the Text Talks Cycle outlined in the Text Talks teacher flip book. Refer to this book for guidance throughout the Text Talks Cycle.

Provide each student with a copy of the text, a bookmark, and a Text Talks Student Workbook. Students will use the bookmark during both reading and discussion. It includes prompts for group discussions and sentence stems to support group interactions.

Students will use the Text Talks Student Workbook throughout the Text Talks Cycle. In preparation for Text Talks, students will record the target vocabulary and relevant anchor charts in their workbook, which they can refer to when they practice specific comprehension processes. During Text Talks, students will use the workbook to respond to the reading, write summaries, and record new words learned during reading. Students will also refer to reflections in their workbook during group discussions.

Preparation

Introduction

Form reading groups of four to five students based on reading and language proficiency levels.

Introduce the book (see Preparation page of the Text Talks flip book for ideas).

Whole-Class Mini-Lesson

Provide a whole-class mini-lesson on one skill or strategy students can apply to comprehend the text and/or participate in group discussions. Focus on a word-learning strategy, a comprehension process, the characteristics of a good book discussion, or the characteristics of a strong reader's response.

Example focus areas include the following:

- Using evidence to support ideas during discussion
- Connecting to self, world, text, or media by creating mental images to deepen understanding or by making connections to personal experiences, ideas in other texts, and society

Have students record anchor charts from the mini-lesson in their workbook on pages 2–3. Students will refer to their anchor charts throughout the Text Talk Cycle.

Before Reading

Preview and Activate Background Knowledge

Show and read the front and back covers of the text.

Activate students' knowledge by making connections between what they know and what they need to know to understand the text.

Ask students to predict what the text is about and briefly discuss related concepts.

Introduce the Target Vocabulary Words

Choose four to six words that are essential to understanding the events and/or characters of the narrative. When possible, choose words that build background knowledge for events or topics explored in the story.

Explicitly teach the words using student-friendly definitions and nonlinguistic representations.

Give students a chance to discuss and practice the new words.

Have students record the target vocabulary words and meanings on page 2 of the workbook.

Example words and instruction for this text are shown below.

determined (p. 4): Having a strong feeling that you will do something and you will not let others or anything stop you

Provide an example from your life or from the story (e.g., In this story, María is determined to get to school on time for her first day. Even though she falls and hurts her knee, she gets right up.).

Provide a turn and talk prompt: What are you determined to do, no matter what?

out of place (p. 6): To feel like you are not welcome or you are very different from everyone else

Provide an example from your life or from the story (e.g., In this story, you will learn that María feels out of place at her new school.).

Provide a turn and talk prompt: Have you ever felt out of place? Tell your partner about it.

named after (p. 10): To be given the name of someone or something else

Provide an example from your life or from the story (e.g., María Isabel was named after someone very special. You will find out who that is as you read.).

Provide a turn and talk prompt: Are you named after someone or something? Tell your partner about it.

insist (p. 17): To believe something must happen or that someone must do something

Provide an example from your life or from the story (e.g., In this story, the teacher insists on calling María another name.).

Provide a turn and talk prompt: What do you insist on doing when you get home from school?

looking forward to (p. 36): To be excited or happy about something that will happen

Provide an example from your life or from the story (e.g., In this story, María is really looking forward to Thanksgiving. You will find out why as you read.).

Provide a turn and talk prompt: What are you looking forward to this year? Tell your partner about it.

Set a Purpose for Implicit Vocabulary Learning During Reading

Direct students to record the new words encountered in the book that they are curious about on the New Vocabulary page of their workbook.

If not provided already, create a mini-lesson on a word-learning strategy and have students record an anchor chart on page 3 of their student workbook. Remind them to use their word-learning strategies while reading. Focus on one or more of the following self-monitoring/fix-up strategies:

- Sound it out
- Is there a cognate?
- Look for affixes you already know
- Use context clues
- Replace with another word (what would make sense?)
- Use a dictionary

During Reading

Provide a Prompt

Provide a prompt for students to consider as they read their section of the text. This sets a purpose for reading, extends comprehension, and promotes higher-order thinking. Possible prompts include the following:

- Chapters 1–2: What did the teacher think of María’s name on the first day of school?
- Chapters 3–4: What details does María remember about her old school in Puerto Rico? [or] Why doesn’t María answer the teacher’s question about the Pilgrims?
- Chapters 5–6: How did María feel on Thanksgiving day? Why?
- Chapters 7–8: Why do you think the author titled Chapter 8 “Trapped in a Spider’s Web”?
- Chapters 9–10: What was María’s greatest wish?

Students Read Independently

Have students read a section of the text and check off target vocabulary words they encounter during reading. Students should use their workbook vocabulary organizers to record new words and use word-learning strategies.

Students Respond to the Reading

Have students fill out the Reading page of their workbook:

- Summarize the reading.
- Choose an additional prompt from their bookmark and complete a readers’ response.
- Record any questions they have about the reading.

Next, have students complete the New Vocabulary page.

After Reading

Students Engage in Collaborative Discussion

Have students participate in authentic discussion about the sections of text they read, for the purpose of deepening comprehension. Have students use their bookmarks (discussion stems) for discussion. Remind them to use their workbook responses to support their ideas during discussion.

Continue the Cycle

Students repeat the during-reading and after-reading activities until they have completed the entire text. Then, move on to the next section.

Extend Language and Comprehension

Periodic Self-Assessment

Model how to use the Checklist: Successful Collaborative Discussion rubric and then have students use it to rate the quality of their participation and evaluate progress toward their goals.

Final Reflection

Model how to fill out the After Reading page of the student workbook and then have students fill it out on their own, reflecting on key events or connections from the book and deciding whether they would recommend it to someone else.

Vocabulary Extension

Have students engage in deeper practice of the target vocabulary and new vocabulary concepts they recorded during their independent reading.

Example: Probable Passages

- Have students write a probable passage using and underlining all of the vocabulary words in the list in their workbook. (This activity can be done independently or as a group.)
- Have groups share their passages.

Comprehension Extension

Have students engage in activities to deepen their comprehension of characters, events, themes, or language features of their text. Support students in making connections between the text and their lived experiences (see the Extensions page of the Text Talks teacher flip book for ideas).
